Short & Sweet

Happy Summer Everyone!

I believe that we are very fortunate to be living in New York State. I realize that we have our challenges, but The Finger Lakes, for instance, have become a nationally recognized tourist attraction. We also have the Adirondack Mountains! I have wonderful memories from both places (as I am sure a lot of you do too!)

I basically grew up on a boat with my immediate family and grandparents. We docked the boat on Seneca Lake, but took it on many trips over the years. The boat could sleep seven, which was great, except that I always got the smallest section of the "V bunk." In my case, that translated into sitting up and whacking my forehead every morning, and that could explain a lot of my ditzzy side! My favorite part of boating was watching fireworks reflect down into the water, and being rocked to sleep in the boat itself!

I witnessed the most spectacular stars in the Adirondacks. Our location was so dark, that the sky seemed to have hundreds of thousands of them, twinkling away! Another fun part of the Adirondacks was that you never knew what to expect. One day, we were hiking and came upon a "black" pond! I was curious, so stuck my foot in the water. All of a sudden, the pond came alive with an endless number of black tadpoles swimming away from my "addition" to their habitat!

Water is one thing necessary for life. It is interesting that we use it in so many different ways. We are lucky that, for the most part, we are able to drink our water in the USA. The majority of other countries cannot claim that. One location cracked me up because our tour guide's comment was, "our water is very good; the pipes are bad!" Since this was an extremely strict country, I luckily kept myself from laughing (although that was difficult to do!) For another country, I was warned to be aware of tap water being sold as bottled water. I was instructed to pay special attention to the cap. Sometimes, they would partially melt the cap back together; other times, they would make no attempt to seal it at all. I experienced the second version, which was a bit awkward. I tried to hide the bottle under my seat, but my friend pointed it out for me to remember to take. Since I had no desire to get sick, I explained the situation to him as soon as I could.

We do have sulfur water in some sections of New York. I usually love going to Bed and Breakfast places in the Finger Lakes. One house had a gorgeous old claw foot tub! I was in heaven, until I started running the water for my bath. I got cleaned up, shampooed my hair, and proceeded to settle in for the night. I got to experience something rather unusual during that sleep. It was the only time in my life when I was woken up by an unpleasant smell (unfortunately, it was my hair!)

In closing, I guess we should add water to the list of things we basically take for granted in this country! Have a fun rest of the season!

Hope to see you soon,

Julie Stout

August RAM Events (so far!)*

*Attention fellow Mensans, please be aware: We are continuing the practice of publishing at least the known events for the coming month ahead of time, usually at least the First Thirstday and whatever else is nailed down by the time we go to print.

First Thirstday – Thursday, August 8, 2013 7:00 pm

Wright Residence 585.880.9868
18 Pecos Circle twright8@rochester.rr.com
West Henrietta, NY 14458

PLEASE NOTE: Due to the limited number of Thursdays this summer, once again we will hold our "First Thirstday" not on the first Thursday of the month, but on the second Thursday instead, as we did in July. We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience!

Entrée provided, bring a "dish to pass" along the lines of hors d'oeuvres or desserts. PLEASE, RSVP to Tim Wright or Terry Redfield no later than August 5. We will be exercising standard protocol, so look for the yellow balloon.

RAM Youth Field Trip – Friday, August 23, 2013 (Time TBD)

Corning Museum of Glass 607.937.5371
1 Museum Way www.cmog.org
Corning, NY 14830

We are in the process of ironing out the details of our Corning Museum of Glass trip scheduled for Friday, August 23rd. We selected a Friday because the Museum will be just a touch less busy and the trip should be a little easier to navigate.

Some members already have expressed an interest in the "Make Your Own Glass" projects, and because these are always on a first-come, first-served basis and should be paid in advance, it underscores the need to plan ahead.

Admission for adults is $15.00; for children age 19 and under admission is free. (Various discounts available for college students, those ages 55 Plus, AAA members, and military personnel.)

RSVP required; we will explore the possibility of carpooling. The plan will most likely include meeting in the parking lot a few minutes before the appointed time; look for the yellow balloon.
